Symposium Course Description and Objectives

The thirty-second Hinds Symposium will focus on an area of importance and interest to the oral and maxillofacial surgery practitioner.

The symposium brings together renowned speakers in implantology who will highlight important concepts and recent developments in the field. Presentations will span case selection and site development, through surgical protocols, to prosthodontic integration. The symposium will also include consideration of different hard and soft tissue grafting techniques, and selection of appropriate implant designs.

Upon completion of this activity, the learner should be able to:

- 1) Formulate appropriate dental implant treatment plans for different cases.
- 2) Select appropriate materials for site development.
- 3) Utilize surgical techniques that optimize aesthetic outcomes.
